

Quotes for The Daylight Award 2026 on Daylight in Architecture

Momoyo Kaijima

"Sunlight creates a sense of time, mornings, evenings. People once lived in rhythm with it, rising and sleeping with the sun."

"A good window is about feeling the seasons while basking in the light, looking at the sky, and thinking about the fact that there is a place to be."

"I think The Daylight Award appreciated our behaviorology's approach. I think that's really great."

Yoshiharu Tsukamoto

"Daylight isn't just light, it also carries heat, it reflects, creates shadows, and shapes the space we inhabit."

"Daylight gradually changes with the sun's movement, the color shifts, the angle shifts, and that's something we should use as effectively as possible."

"Things like light, wind, the view and the behavior of the people who are drawn to it, all these things gather around a single window."

"I think The Daylight Award appreciated our behaviorology's approach. I think that's really great."
